Bali Hash House Harriers 2 – Run 883
Disco Wanker's Birthday and Christmas Run
Saturday 20th Dec 2008 – Sobangan
Hare: Disco Wanker assisted by Slit It In, Aaron and Chevy

This was Disco Wanker's birthday run and he did us proud. We were greeted at Sobangan with tee shirts and food vouchers sponsored by the 2010 Interhash bid that Disco is providing professional advice and assistance to.

Sobangan is a very good site with a temple and Wantilan under a large tree and some excellent running country that can take the hounds in many different directions. The sky was overcast, it had been wet and the ground was very slippery underfoot. A goodly crowd set off down some very slippery steps to the North East. Up a road and down a muddy path across a stream and up the other side. Up to a road then on to a junction with confusion as people searched for paper. Then came a mud chute down a steep slope to a stream valley. There was no way of avoiding it and hasher after hasher gave up trying to stay on their feet and resorted to that most useful part of the anatomy – the buttocks – to get themselves down the slope. Mud sliding was the sport of the day.

We turned south and followed an irrigation canal across a road and into open country. After a long circuit we turned East across a couple of valleys and eventually turning North we came upon a terrible sight. A bare chested Aussie with what looked like a pair of woolly underpants on (they like their wool the Aussies). He was running towards us – the wrong way - on the long. He looked confused and must have been worried because he looked like he had shat himself. What a horrible sight. We turned him around being careful not to touch him and led him back to where he had missed the long/short insplit (Note – you must never get the insplit mixed up with the outsplit or you end up in the shit) that headed off East. Mind you in all fairness it was a bit difficult to see the 10 foot high white arrows and letters spray painted on the grass. Perhaps he had mud in his eye.

We crossed another valley and turned North and home catching some rather splendid upstanding susu along the way.

Back at the circle and “Ho Ho Ho” Mr Claus was throwing chocolate bars at the kids who were tearing each other to pieces in the melee (they enjoyed every minute).

We all enjoyed barbequed chicken and the circle started.

Lots of returners this week. Ada Sucker, Blind Dog, Bird Ball, Flora Fornicator, Chicken Legs, Brick Dick, Dead Meat, Hot Lips, Roger*, Safe Sex, Snake Hips, Young Goat, Ana, Denis Devit, Nova and of course Pearl Necklace all returned to the fold.

We had visitors Jan Zwinkels (eh!), Schorsh (sounds like a fizzy drink), Julian, Jenni, Maddog Sean, Isacc Slack (what sort of a name is that! If he comes again we'll have to call him foreskin), Dield Slug Dale (these names get sillier!) Chuck, Rob, Peter, Judy, Fabien, Mike “Semen Stains” Ward, Mat, Patrick, Nev, Old Uncle Tom Cobbley and all.

Of course we had Disco's birthday although Disco's mind was elsewhere. Instead of enjoying the fruits of his much appreciated efforts he was worrying about 6 Aussie visitors he had brought who had not returned - last seen ambling along through the rice fields, looking at the birds and talking to the trees and oblivious to the setting sun and a worrying hare.

Finally Hotlip's bloke, Roger, had forgotten his hash name (as we all had) so we gave him a nice new more memorable one. From now until eternity (and probably after that) he will be known as LIPSDICK - a name spiritually delivered to our ever inspirational Religious Adviser.

No one wanted to go home so we opened another barrel and the rest is unmemorable.

An excellent run in great country, a very nice tee shirt and good food. Well done Disco and thanks for organising the sponsors, the Interhash 2010 bid, for their support.

Happy Birthday you even older fart.
